A SABBATII SESSION

May be Precipitated by the Poo!ing Bill.

SENATOR PETTIGREW'S OPPOSITION

That He Will Use Every Method to Defeat a Vote on the Measure-Favored by a Majority of Senators.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 -As the session of the senate was about to close last night Mr. Pettigrow (S. D.) gave a decidedly interesting turn to the otherwise tedious debate on the Indian appropriation bill. It has been discussed for several days, and Mr. Call, in charge of the measure, sought to secure an agreement for a final vote tomorrow. There were numerous objections, and among them one from Mr. Pettigrew. which was emphasized by the brief but pointed statement he made. It was in the nature of a disclosure that a private arrangement had been reached among senators whereby the pooling bill would be taken up at 3 o'clock this afternoon and held before the senate day and night, and over Sunday, until passed.

The statement came so unexpectedly and was the sequel to such active work throughout the day by the friends of the pooling bill, that it created something of a sensation among the senators and specta-tors. Mr. Pettigrew added to his an-nouncement that he would take effective steps to defeat the passage of the pooling bill by objecting to the disposal of the Indian appropriation bill, or other measures having precedence.

The contract school item of the Indian bill was completed in such form as to provide a 20 per cent, reduction from the expenditures of last year. Mr. Morgan (Ala. spoke throughout the afternoon in favor of a judicial system for the Indian territory, but his amendment to that effect was finally ruled out of order.

The understanding created great interest among the opponents of the bill as soon as it became known, and they imprediately began their propositions to antagonize not only the bill itself, but to, if possible, prevent its being taken up. The program was immediately construct into a decision to hold a Sunday session, and this fact was unale the most of by those of the senators who oppose the bill.

The Democratic steering committee of the senate, after many postponements, held a meeting yesterday and decided to recom-mend to the senate that Senator Butler should be permitted to move at 3 o'clock today for the consideration of the pooling bill, that this bill should continue to be the unfinished bill until 12 o'clock Monday, and that if it should not be disposed of by that time it should give place to other business.

The advocates of the bill did not admit in so many words that their purpose included a Sunday session, but they confeeed that it they should succeed in get ting the bill up they would use their utmost endeavors to have it vited upon before the expiration of the time set for its consideration, and as this would frielude only about three hours of the Saturday session and one hour of the Monday session, they would necessarily have very limited time for the bill without either a night or a Sunday session.

When Senator Butler, who, as chairman of the inter-tate commerce committee, will have charge of the bill in the senate, was asked what his purpose was as to a Sunday meeting, he said he did not want to be quoted as saying anything that could be construed into a threat, and that he would only say that he would use his best endeavors to get the bill before the senate, and that if he should succeed in that he would continue his exertions in its behalf until a vote could be reached. He said he felt confident of the success of the bill in case a vote could be reached, and he be-Haved a clear in querty would be shown on the vote for consideration. While Senator Butler would name no figures, it is understood that other friends of the bill claim that a final vote would show that two-thirds of the members of the senate

The opponents of the bill concede that if a vote should be reached it would pass, but they are determined in the declaration that it shall not reach the point when the test of its strength shall be made. The tactics which they will pursue were fore sl dowed in Senator Pettierew's brief statement in the senate just prior to ad-jearnment. The felling is such as to make it clear than to be will be a very sharp clash who a the offers a made to take the ball up and the medications are for a period of most decided parlicement. ary spar ing croust to more real which will find a who had be a record raises on the Dance of the grant he remains Challen Alle Christian Hab

FINANCE AND TRADE.

The Success of the Latest Bond Issue Gives Increased Confidence.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: The surprising success of the new loan and the great confidence it has given to investors on both sides of the water and to business men here encourage many to hope that it may be the beginning of a real recovery. In twenty-two minutes here subscriptions are supposed to have been at least five times the amount of bonds offered, and in two hours at London they were twenty times the amount there offered.

Considering the power which control of these bonds gives to regulate foreign exchanges and to prevent exports of gold, the transaction has indeed greatly changed the financial situation, in spite of the fact that the government revenues are still deficient and that domestic trade shows scarcely any gain as yet. RIOTOUS RUSSIAN STUDENTS.

They Wreck a Restaurant and Attack the Police with Knives. LONDON, Feb. 23.-Additional details received here indicate that the students who caused so much trouble in the streets of St. Petersburg on Thursday really wanted to present a petition to the czar. The petition, it is claimed, was a protest against the abolition of certain by-laws governing the provincial assemblies. During the march to the palace the students stopped at the restaurants, and here many became intoxicated. They entered several theaters, jeered the performers, and fought with spectators and attendants until for-cibly ejected. They then proceeded to the front of the Anitchess palace, where they paraded, hoping to attract the attention of the ezar. The police finally stopped the marching and counter marching.

A good sized riot ensued, but the students were finally driven away. They then went to a restaurant, but the police had already taken the precaution to order the proprietor to close the doors. This enraged the students, and they forced the doors and windows, smashed the furniture and destroyed the viands. They were finally ejected by the authorities. This only enraged them the more, and general fighting followed. The students attacked the police with knives, ston is and broken articles of furniture. They were severely handled in return, and at least twenty were placed under arrest by the police.

EVIDENCE AGAINST MORGANFIELD

The Wounded Bandit Listens in Silence to the Story of the Robbery as Told by His "Pal," Though He Calls Another Wit-

STAFFORD C. H., Va., Feb. 23.—There was no postponement of the express robbers' trial on account of the memory of George Washington. Only three witnesses were examined. These were William Washington and Captain Birdsong, the fireman and conductor of the held up train, and Percy S. Crutchfield, the express messenger who was robbed. He told a graphic tale of the blowing open of the car door and of the robbery. He then described the man who was in the car. Replying to a question whether he had seen the man since, he pointed his finger and said, "That man lying on the cot is the man." Morganfield arose to a sitting posture and said in a clear, distinct voice, "You are a liar." Judge Ashton sternly called the prisoner to order and stated he would punish him for any further inter-

Mr. Murray, the other express messenger, took the stand when court opened in the afternoon. He positively identified Morganfield as the man who was in the express car on the night of Oct. 12, and identified the reddish brown hat which was found on Morganfield as the hat he had on the night of the robbery. Mr. Murray stood aside and Prosecuting Attorney White called Charles J. Searcey.

Searcey came into court leaning on the arm of Sheriff Kennedy and smoking a cigar, which the court ordered him to throw aside. He was neatly dressed and looked composed and jaunty. General Shay and Mr. Little, the counsel for Morganfield, vizorously objected to the competency of Scarccy as a witness on the ground that he was an accomplica jointly indicted, and therefore he could not testify. Judge Ashton decided that the witness was competent.

Searcey, in a quiet and composed way. under a storm of objections to everything he said and to every question asked by the prosecution, told the tale of the robbery, identified Morganfield as one of the men, said there were only two, told how the robbery was planned, how the place was selected, and how the robbery was accomplished. Morganfield kept his eyes fixed on Searcey will testilying, and ar times was evidently laboring under strong excitement. Scarcey was on the stand when court adjourned.

HOT SPRINGS' FATAL FIRE.

Six Lives Lost and Four Blocks of Buildings Destroyed. HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 23.—Six persons are known to have perished in a fire which started in this city at 4 o'clock in the morning. Four large blocks of buildings were soon laid in ruins, and it is feared the number of dead will be much greater, as many people who lived in the destroyed buildings are missing.

People who roomed in the doomed structure were caught almost without warning, and nearly all who escaped did so in their night clothes, being unable to save any of their effects.

The dead are: Mrs. Clara Sammons, boarding house keeper, Hot Springs; D. W Wing, Glenn's Falls, N. Y.; Mrs. Maggie Hiscock, boarding house keeper, and three others, names unknown.

The fire originated in a bakery on Ouchita avenue, over which were furnished rooms. Here Mrs. Sammons, who kept the rooms, was burned. The fire was at the south end of the gulch in which Hot Springs is located, and the wind was from the north. As a result none of the large hotels were at any time in danger. The fire burned both sides of Ouchita avenue to Hawthorne, one side of Hawthorne to Woodbine, and both sides of Orange to Quapaw street.

STUBBORN AFRICAN QUESTIONS.

The British Ambassador Sees No Reason for Becoming Morbidly Excited Over a Country That Promises So Little for Humanity and Progress.

Times from Paris says that at a banquet given by the British chamber of commerce of that city Lord Duff min, the British ambassador, mavie a long speech, in the cours of which he said:

LONDON, Feb. 23 -A dispatch to The

"In spite of certain current criticisms in a portion of the French press, never since my arrival here three years ago have the relations of France and Great Britain bear more friendly and obviously conciliatory on both sides than now."

With reference to the stubborn Africau questions waiting solution Lord. Duffer:n said he falled to see why France and Great Britain should become morbidly excited over them. Africa, he added, is certainly not the home of the pagoda tree, nor are Jason's golden fleeces to be found on every bush. Had it been otherwise the continent would not have lain in darkness so many centuries, with human beings its only export. He wished the explorers of Africa every success, but doubted whether the country would prove such an El Dorado as the imagination of Europe seems disposed to pleture it. Africa undoubtedly possesses sheep walks in the south, and gold reefs. The latter were often the cause of more ship-wreeks than those below water. He trusted, however, that they might help to relabilitate the rupee.

The main patent fact to remember is that the great mass of the inhabitants live under the primitive conditions of a tropical chimate.. L. hes there do not require petticoats or even "knickers," if they have no money to bay them. Trading with such communities was not likely to return a hundred per cent. These considerations should induce all nations to discuss African territorial questions whenever they come in collision in a temperate, philosophical spirit.

MEXICO AND GUATEMALA ON THE VERGE OF WAR.

The Smaller Republic Claims That Mexico Has Designs on All the Central American Republics-In the Event of War Guatemala's Army Would De Outnumbered.

The boundary question which has been threatening for some have to cause a war between Mexico and her smaller neighbor, Guatemala, has long been a bone of contention between the two republies. Mexico claims that all she desires is the undisputed peasession of a very small section of territory between the Passion and Salt rivers. Guateur. be declares that Mexico's design is to provoke a war, rob her of the whole Peten country, which comprises about a third of all the territory she possesses, and eventually absorb all the republics of Contral America.

The land in dispute is remarkably fertile. Maize, beans, coffee, rice, cocoa, sugar cane, fruits of all kinds and very good tobacco are raised in large quantities. The coffee crop is especially valuable since Americans began drilling artesian wells and furnishing an abundant supply of water, and there are gold, silver, lead, copper and iron mines in the coveted strip of land.

Until the fall of the Emperor Iturbide in 1824 Guatemala was a part of Mexico. During the chaotic condition that followed Guatemala separated from Mexico, and each formed a republic of its own. From the time of division, some 50 years ago, to the present day the two countries have quarreled over the boundary line, and on several occasions the United States has attempted to settle some point in the dispute or prevent threatened hostilities.

In 1873 a number of Guatemalans settled at Bejucal, in the disputed territory, between the Mexican state Chiapas and Guatemala, and expressed a desire to become citizens of Mexico. President Diaz at once established Mexican officials on the spot, whereupon Guatemala protested, claiming that Bejucal was her territory. Mexico replied that she would permit no discussion concerning the possession of Chiapas and Soconusco, both of which unquestionably belonged to her. For a time the outlook seemed very squally, but finally, in 1874, the two republics agreed upon a mixed commission composed of engineers to examine the dividing line and make a report. While the matter was still undecided the prefect of San Marcos, a small town in Guatemala, destroyed a boundary sign temporarily recognized by both countries as marking the line during negotiations and erected another sign many miles farther north in Mexican territory.

Euraged at this audacious act, Mexico promptly dispatched troops to the scene, toro down the new boundary sign and placed it where it had been before. A new treaty concerning the boundary question was signed in New York in 1882, both governments agreeing to have the line established at an early date by a commission. This commission has been continued in existence from time to time, but the two republics seem no nearer an agreement than they did half a century ago.

In the event of war Mexico would certainly win unless Guatemala should succeed in enlisting the aid of the other Central American republics. Mexico has a population of about 12,000,000, while Guatemala has about 1,500,000 people. Mexico has a standing army of 40,000 and a reserve force of 175,000 militia and could without doubt have an army of over 200,000 in the field threatening the Guatemalan frontier in a very few

Maxico also possesses five small warships that do not amount to much when compared with the ships of a country that precends to maintain a navy, but they could undoubtedly get away with the Guatemalan navy, which consists of one schooner about as large as a pilotboat and carrying a single nuzzle loading cannon that cannot be fired, it is said. Guatemala is little better off in the matter of an army. She has a standing army of about 4,000 men, but claims to be able to put 50,000 troops in the field at short notice. The army is composed mainly of Judians, who are good fighters if they are well officered. By law every male between the ages of 18 and 50 is liable to military duty except Indians, priests, students and those who pay $50 a year exemption. The commander in chief of the Guatemalan army is General Barrios, the president of the rephiblic

General Portirio Diaz, the great Mexican soldier and statesman who has given Mexico such a wide awake and progressive and presperous rule during his long presidency, would direct the movements of the Moxican troops and would take the field himself in an emergency. WHITMAN'S RIDE PRESERVED, ORE-GON, IDAHO AND WASHINGTON.

A Journey Across the Continent That Eclipses the Pamous Feats of Paul Revere and Phil Sheridan-Whitman College the Only Monument to the Hero,

Written high upon the scroll of fame pre the names of Paul Levere, Philip H. Sheridan and John C. Fremont, and beside them should be the name of Marcus Whittman. His name is not there, however, and few people are familiar with the remarkable history of the man who crossed the Rocky mountains six years before John C. Fremont, and who was the hero of a ride beside which the midnight ride of Paul Revere from Charlestown to Lexington "to spread the alarm through every Middlesex village and farm" and the famous ride of Sheridan from Winchester to Cedar Creek pale into comparative insignificance. No Longfellow has immortalized Whitman's ride in verse, no Reid has told the story of Whitman's dash from the Pacific coast across the continent to Washington to save Oregon, Washington and Idaho to the Union, and no monument marks the spot where Whitman's ashes mingle with the dust of 13 other brave prisoners who were massacred by the Cayuse Indians in Oregon in 1847. The only monument thus far reared to Whitman's memory is Whitman college, a small frame building in Walla Walla. The college has had a hard struggle during the 28 years of its existence, and its endowment at present is only $11,000. No story of the college would be complete without a sketch of Marcus Whitman, who never saw the

LADIES' HALL, WHITMAN COLLEGE. structure and never dreamed that it would be reared as a monument to his memory. Whitman was born in Rushville, Ontario county, N. Y., Sept. 4, 1802. He studied in Berkshire Medical institute, Pittsfield, Mass., and in 1834 was appointed a missionary physician to Oregon by the American board. Oregon was then a vast, unexplored territory, comprising what are now the states of Oregon, Washington and Idaho. Dr. Whitman, Rev. Henry N. Spaulding and their young wives started for Oregon in 1836. When they reached Fort Laramie, the agents of the Hudson Bay company, who were working hard to save Oregon to Great Britain, warned the missionaries that no wagon train could possibly cross the Rocky mountains. These agents had succeeded in preventing settlers from proceeding beyond Fort Laramie in wagons, well knowing that if wagon trains from the United States crossed the great divide the United States government would exert itself to claim Ore

Whitman and Spaulding disregarded the warnings of the Hudson Bay people and refused to abandon their wagons, their wives were undaunted by the perils of the proposed journey, and the four missionaries, led by Whitman, pushed on over the Rocky mountains, crossing through the South pass, which Fremont used six years later, and reached Fort Walla Walla in safety. The women were the first members of their sex to make the perilous trip, and Whitman's was the first wagon to cross the great divide.

After several years' residence in Oregon Whitman saw that the British were discouraging American immigration by harping on the inaccessibility of Oregon with a view to securing the territory for themselves, and learning that the Webster-Ashburton treaty concerning Oregon was then under consideration be determined to ride to Washington and lay before the president the importance of clinging to Oregon. He set out on horseback through the vast mountain wilderness Oct. 3, 1842, and three months later, after enduring many hardships, reached St. Louis, where he learned that the Oregon question was still unsettled. On March 3 he reached Washington, having completed his great ride across the continent in five menths, and soon demonstrated to President Tyler that Oregon was accessible and well worth saving, despite the fact that John C. Calhoun had declared that Oregon was a "God forsaken country" and not worth a pinch of snuff.

At President Tyler's request Whitman volunteered to demonstrate the accessibility of Oregon by guiding a wagon train across the great divide. At Independence, Mo., he found 200 wagons and 1,000 people on route for the west, and a month later the army of pioneers, with Whitman at their head arrived at Fort Walla Walla.

At Waulatpa, Or., Nov. 29, 1847, Whitman, Mrs. Whitman, their two adopted children and ten other pioneers were treacherously slain by the Cayuse Indians. Their bones were gathered together years later and buried in a great grave, which is unmarked, save by a picket fence. Rev. Dr. Cushing Eells followed Whitman to Oregon and in 1859 decided to perpetuate Whitman's memory by founding Whitman college. The college was opened Oct. 13, 1866, and has suffered many vicissitudes. True to the memory of Whitman, Dr. Eells made many sacrifices to pay the institution's debts and keep it running. Pearson of Chicago has since become interested in the college, has offered $50. 000 toward a $200,000 endowment, and Rev. Dr. S. B. L. Penrose, the new president of the college, is now labor-

There aren't many offices and their possession doesn't count for much, but in these days of adversity it's a pleasure to record that Democrats are in control somewhere

A bill is pending in the Leglislature, which makes it a misdemeanor | She was born March 29th, 1802, on for a barber to do business on Sunday. The penalty for the first of fense is $5 fine, and for subsequent offenses a fine of from $10 to $25, or imprisonment from ten to twentyfive days. Should the bill become a law, the disposition manifested by some Middletown barbers to disregard the Sunday closing agreement, may be very quickly checked.

At the recent convention of the cooperative fire insurance companies of the State, h ld in Syracuse, 107 companies were represented, an increase of eight over last year. Reports showed that 93,042 policies were in force, insuring $166,000,000, at a cost for the year of $874,000, an amount very much less than the cost of maurance in stock companies would have been. Experience is demonstrating that farmers, by organizing local companies and accepting only moderate risks from good citizens and reputable men, can protect themselves against damage or loss from life at a nominal percentage of the cost of insurance in atock companies.

YESTERDAY'S CAS EXPLOS ON.

Theories as to Its Cause-A Similar Explosion With Much More Serious

Results at Meadville, Pa.

The explosion of gas in Crane & Swayze's lumber yard, yesterday, bas been the subject of conversation about town ever since the fact became known and, of course, many theories have been advanced as to the cause, some claiming that the gas came from a leak in the city mains and others that it is from the private gas plant of the Russell House. It is probable, however, that the latter is the correct theory.

The Russell House gas is generated from gasoline, the machine being located in the cellar and the gazoline stored in a tank in the yard about thirty feet in the rear of the hotel.

This tank is in a pit under the ground, a trap door at the surface being used for filling and emptying the tank. Around the tank is a space to allow the water to settle and when it reaches a certain height it is carried by a pipe into the sewer.

It is necessary occasionally to remove the refuse of the gasoline from the tank, which is done by pumping it into the sewer. Tols was done at a late hour, Thursday night. In the refuse or sediment there is still a very considerable quantity of volatile matter, which is released when it comes in contact with the warmer atr of the sewer.

The Russell House is connected with the Henry street branch of the West Main street sewer. The latter begins at a point in front of the residence of Geo. A. Swayze on Highland avenue, and empties into the old Foundry street, to King and through private lands again to Canal street, and thence to the Fulton street sewer. There are "dead ends" at Franklin Square, at the corner of Highland avenue.

Very naturally the gas, if it gets in the sewer, finds its way to the highwas plenty of it. Thursday night, Mr. Swayze found ample proof at his home, the house being filled with it. The explosion, yesterday, furnished further indisputable proof.

Sewer Commissioners Gibbs and the Russell House, yesterday, and not believe the gas in thesewer came from his plant, but will not use it for -The Mannerchor Germania will a time, having connected his hotel with the city mains.

The wrecked building in the lumber vard will give some idea of the possibilities of destruction from sewers charged with gas, but Meadville, Pa ,papers which, by a strange chance, were received by Crane & Swayze. yesterday, give an account of a similar occurrence in that place on Feb ing affair by comparison. The Meadville explosion completely demolished the lumber office of Geo. H Cutter and his residence nearby, killing Mr. Cutter, injuring his wife who stood near him, imprisoning his young son under the debris in the cellar and blowing the servant girl a distance of twenty feet into the back yard, and causing a loss of property to the extent of $30 000.

There should be no connection between the city mains or private gas plants and the sewers. It is enough to have to take our chances against ordinary sower gas.

From Our Regular Correspondent

-Patriotism ran high at Music Hall, last night, with the large crow i that gathered to celebrate the anniversary of the birth of the great and illustrious Washington. Members of F M. Cummins Post, G. A. R., and of Maj. Murray Camp, S. of V., were present in full uniform. The Boys' Brigade was out in full force and occupied a position on the platform. Dr. J. H. Toompson gave an interesting five minutes' talk to the veterans. Capt. Talentt gave an address on "Tne Flag," and Rev. R. B. Clark spoke interestingly on "Patriotism." During the evening a chorus of forty voices sang some of the old national and patriotic airs and solos and quartettes were also givea. The musical programme consisted of eight en numbers. Mr. E. E. Rose, musician of the 24th Separate Company, of Middletown, pleased the audience by giving the different bugle calls and commands. A fife and drum corps increased the enthusiasm by giving several selections.

-Master Leo. Fritz, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Levison, of this village, is celebrating his thirteenth birthday to-day. A Masquerade-The Guild Entertain ment-The Boys' Brigade - Personal Mention-Concerning Blizzards,

From a Epecial Correspondent

—Miss Pope, who has had a dancing class in Goshen, this winter, closed it with a masquerade party at Interpines, Wednesday afternoon. Her pupils were attired in sheets and pillow cases and were masked.

-Tickets for the Guild entertainment are selling rapidly. After the conclusion of the play, the floor will be cleared for dancing and refreshments will be served.

-A large crowd was present at Music Hall, last evening, to listen to the patriotic songs and addresses by the Boye' Brigade and their friends. The choruses were conducted by Rev. R. B. Clark.

-The Ladies' Whist Club met at the residence of Hon, R. C. Coleman, yesterday afternoon.

-Among those who spent Washington's Birthday in Goshen, were Mesary, Hency Harford of Brooklyn, and Augustus Mapes and George Grier, of New York.

-That the long predicted blizzard did not put in an appearance, yesterday morning, was a cause for rejoicing. There is not so much reablizzards come to us. The last named importation is one that most of us could easily learn to live without. From the days of the late Hiawatha, of whom it is recorded by Mr. Longfellow, that, "Scarcely from his buried wigwam could the hunter force a passage," up to the present time, they have been the cause of much inconvenience and trouble. Of the many unpleasant features connected with a blizzard, perhaps, the wind is the worst and most nerve destroying. It is not only that it rattles and bangs everything outside the house that is rattleable and bangable, and that it gets inside and groans at you from the chimney, and forces a door back when you try to open it, as though it were held by spirit hands, but it always seems to like the expression of some great agony. If you listen to it at night, when everything else is ellent, and hear it die away at times until it truly beneficial in effect and entirely sighs and sobs, you can hear in it an echo of all that is sad and sorrowful on the earth, and again it will rise vain search of a resting place, and Highest of all in Leavening Power.- Latest U.S. Gov't Report

THE COMING TAX SALE

Many Making a Herole Struggle to Save their Homes-L Bad Time to Enforce Payment.

At the rate at which the delinquents are paying up past due taxes and assessments, there will be comparatively few properties offered when the time for the tax sale ar-

Already more than half of the fiftytwo claims advertised have been settled and it is believed most of the other owners of property advertised will settle before the date of sale. If the injunction obtained by Mr. George Wickham, is not dissolved. his property cannot be sold. It is understood that a few of the properties will be allowed to go under the hammer in order to secure a title. In some instances, doubtless, there was really no excuse for non-payment, as many of the delinquents were abundantly able to pay, but in the case of many others it has doubtless been a great hardship to raise the money, and the public will never know the sacrifices and privations some will suffer to raise the funds necessary to save their homes.

It is unfortunate that probably the year that has been the hardest upon people of limited means in the city's history, and the middle of a hard winter, should have been selected to to enforce payment of these claims. Bur, according to the ideas of those who are now managing the local Republican machine, it was necessary for the present administration to make a record and the time to "put the screws" to the delinquents was just before the charter election, when it would be fresh in the minds of the voters. It could not have been done last summer, when most everybody was employed and earning wages, or put off until later this year, when similar conditions may be expected, as it would not have had the desired effect upon voters.

Have you ever noticed how your system seems to crave special assistance in the spring? Just the help required is given by Hood's SarsapaWOULDN'T PAY HIS FARE.

And so the Conductor and Motorman Left Him in a snow Bank.

Some little excitement was created on a car coming from Goshen to this. city, yesterday afternoon, by the ejectment of a tipsy passenger, who refused to pay his fare. THe was giving the conductor a hard tussle when the motorman took a hand in and helped deposit the fellow in a snow bank, just this side of Ryerson's bridge. No time was lost in starting and conductor and motorman seemed to enjoy the vain attempt of the expassenger to overtake the car.

BELLS OF FOLLY.

Miranda ran into the meadow, laughing. The grassy slope shelved down into the valley, where the wood lay black and still Daffodils nodded and cowslips bowed as she passed on her way. A lark got up and rose, singing to heaven. She sped out of the shadow and into the snulight, and the sound of her voung laughter floated down the valley. Echoes joined it there, and the little ravine gurgled with merriment. Miranda stopped, with her chin in the air, and listened. Was it all the echo of her own delight, or was it something more? The peal of her mockery died into the somber copse, and out of it, fresh and clear, a voice trilled mercily on its upward way. Miranda stood and wait-

"It was but a signal of the spring, sir.'' says she, with a dainty bow.

"Nay," he replied. "I make no such distinctions between the seasons. I laugh the whole year through. It is the manner of the wise. You will perceive my jocund humor, fair mistress. Believe me, 'tis not the whim of an hour contrived by the guiles of a spring morning, but a very settled disposition of the mund. I am broad based upon gayety.'

"Ah, to be gay!" cried Miranda. "To be gay is to live. '

"Life is at our feet," said the merry youth. "I take an infinite pleasure in its complexities. Believe me, nothing should matter, save the twinkling of an

"You are right," said Miranda, smiling. "How can one have enough of

And that is why I am a spendthrift of pleasures. I eke not out my delights. I would burn 20 in a straw hat out of sheer caprice and toss a deven to the ducks upon the

"Yes, yes," agreed Miranda.

"Time," he continued, with fine

Poor Pie

is responsible for many of man's (and woman's) physical woes-but the pie needn't be poor, and it may bring joy instead of woe. How? Use nothing but COTTOLENE for shortening and the pie crust will be delicate, flaky, delicious, and so healthful that even a dyspeptic can eat freely of it and be comfortable. COTTOLENE can't be equalled as a shortening, and is absolutely healthful. Genuine has this trade mark on every pail. Take no other.

THE RECORDER'S SALARY CHECK. Mis Ronor, the Recorder, With the Help of a supreme Court, Judge Persundes His Ronor, the Mayor, to Sign

It-Great Coolaess Between These There's blood on the Republican

moon, great blotches of it and there's likely to be more, for a vendetta has limb could never be well enough to been declared between His Honor, the Mayor, and His Honor, the Recorder.

The break occurred some little time ago, but a dark lantern mystery has been made of the whole effiir because, some tuperby statesmen feared that if the matter became known it might have some effect on the coming election, and if the Democrats should elect an Alderman or two or a member of the Board of Education the tariff might be lowered or some other dire calamity befall. But Republicans, like church walls, sometimes leak and the Argus is at lust able to give the whole

The Recorder owns some lots on Oottage street which, several years ago, were curbed and flagged in accordance with the grade established by the City Engineer. The grade in front of the lots was afterwards changed and the Recorder was notified to reset his curb and relay his flags, but the courts having always held that when this work has been done once, a property owner cannot be compelled to do it over it again His Honor paid no heed to the second order and the city did the work, charging the cost, some $60, to His Honor's account.

A bill for that amount was sent the Recorder, but he paid no attention to it. When his last quarter's bill for salary was audited he sent his clerk for his check. The clerk returned with the information that he could have his check when he paid the charges against the Cottage street lots.

The Recorder hustled around to Foundry street at a Ourrituck duck hunter's best pape and asked Clerk Hamilton it his check was ready. There were chips on both the judicial shoulders and Clerk Hamilton, who wasn't spoiling for a scrap, sought to "be aisey" with the irate dispenser of criminal justice, and answered, "It's made out but the Mayor hasn't signed it."

"Ah! just let me have it and I'll take it around to him," was the Recorder's pacific rejoinder.

Cierk Hamilton was explaining that that wasn't in accordance with Hoyle and the laws of the Medes and Persians, when in walked the Mayor. "Will you sign my check?" was the Recorder's salutation in a tone that, as they might say in blood and thunder fiction, cut like a back saw. The Mayor drew himself up, struck a fighting attitude and made answer: "If you mean that as threat, I say no. If you mean it as a courteous question, I'll talk the matter over with you."

"Will you sign my check? yes or no?' demanded the Recorder, mad clear through. "No," thundered the Mayor, as mad as the Recorder.

Their Honors parted without bloodshed and the dispenser of criminal law hurried to his office, took his pen and wrote on legal cap. Next morning he hied himself to Brooklyn, hunted up a Supreme Court judge, laid before him an application for a mandamus directing the Mayor to sign his check for salary, and told his tale of woe, which so moved the judge that he signed the mandamus.

Next day, His Honor, the Recorder, called on His Honor, the Mayor, handed him the mandamus with a smile, and, in tones of sarcasm that, to revert to dime novel style again, bit like the teeth of a wharf rat, said, "Will you sign my check, now?" His Honor the Mayor, signed but there's a wall of ice between him and 'totner Honor and "they do not speak as they pass by.'

I used these medicines but a short time, when my limb began to heal. I will further add, among many medicines I have tried for a diseased liver and kidneys, none has ever proved so helpful to me as Favorite Remed v. By stimulating and strengthening the enfeebled organs, even the encroachments of advanced age seem to be checked by its invigorating power.

"I have thoroughly tested its true worth, and I know whereof I affirm, hoping all who read will profit thereby, as the aged writer has, by using Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, been given very comfortable health for a person 70 years of age. The Favorite Remedy is an invaluable medicine for children as well as adults, and is as safe as it is sure.

"This testimonial is given from my own experience of these invaluable medicinas." Mrs. Belinda Hods. DON, Haverhill, N.H.

No tribute to the efficacy of a medicine could be greater than these words of Mrs. Hodsdon, who voluntarily tells the story of her recovery.

Thousands of men and women whose daily life is making severe draughts on their vitality need Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. None are too old to be helped by it. It permanently cures dyspepsia, rheumatism, kidney, liver and urinary troubles, and for the ills peculiar to women it has no equal.
